Embracing the Peak of Midsummer Bliss

Haitai!

As the sun blazes overhead and the heat of August sweeps across our beautiful islands, ocean temperatures are at their warmest, and the atmosphere is filled with a festive spirit and the final moments of summertime bliss.

Having spent the majority of my life in Hawaii, I can confidently say that the Okinawa summer months feel more like home than any other time of the year. Our sister islands share very similar summer weather, but also a vibrant island lifestyle, rich traditions and a deep cultural heritage. One of the most notable traditions celebrated this time of year is Obon, a three-day festival dedicated to family and honoring the spirits of our ancestors. I invite you to learn more about the uniqueness of Okinawan Obon in this issue's Oki Cultural Corner.

As we savor the last of the summer festivals and vacations, many families are gearing up for the back-to-school season. This month's FSS Program Spotlight shines on Kadena's Children & Youth Programs, highlighting the various care and specialized activities they provide for families throughout the year. If you have teens, be sure they don't miss the exciting End of Summer Lock-In at the Teen Center!

Another exciting development at Kadena FSS is the full launch of our highly anticipated Membership Rewards Program at The Rocker, now open and available to all ranks and services. This premium facility and program are designed to deliver greater value, unify and elevate the membership experience, and foster a true sense of community and connection for all members. Following a successful soft launch in July with our flagship Elevated Sunday Brunch, I challenge you to find a more sophisticated and enjoyable dining experience for the price anywhere on island! Additional membership benefits include exclusive access to monthly Wine Club events, free or discounted access to special ticketed events, and a 10% discount at all FSS food establishments.

As the sun sets in August, relish in watching the evening skies transform into a canvas of orange and pink hues and take the time to reminisce and cherish the special moments and connections made this season.

Cheers to a smooth transition into the new school year and to embracing the beauty of every season ahead. Thank you for being a part of our community!

With gratitude,

#VENTURE inOki

By Savanna Dutcher

Bright, blue and beautiful – Okinawa's waters truly shine in the summer! 🌊

As we head into August and the final month of the season, now's the time to make the most of your opportunity to explore before life gets a little busier in the fall. These recent submissions have given us some amazing additions to our #VentureinOki bucket list.

This beautiful location has quickly become one of my top spots to explore next. Beyond the stunning exhibit featured by @nat_wlms, the site is nestled in the hills along the southeastern border of Okinawa, in the city of Nanjo.

The location features multiple exhibit rooms, an atelier, a café with an ocean-view terrace, a large forest space designed to inspire creativity and an art shop.

📍 Nanjo Art Museum

📍 Kerama Islands National Park

If there were ever an image to inspire island hopping, this is it. Who hasn't dreamed of swimming with turtles in some of the bluest, most beautiful waters on the planet?

The Kerama Islands National Park is a breeding ground for green sea turtles. @thesashatravels experienced this incredible moment, and we're so glad she shared it with us.

@simplierosie wows in this gorgeous capture at the Kouri Island Tower. I know I'm not the only one who'll admit that my first motivation to visit the island came after hearing about the famous Kouri Shrimp truck — I'll always travel for food. But after exploring this little slice of paradise, I quickly discovered it offers so much more. As one of the smaller islands, you can drive around the entire perimeter in just 15 minutes. Kouri Island is also commonly known as Love Island, thanks to its beautiful heart-shaped rock formations and lover's tail.

Adventure looks good on you! Show us where your Okinawa travels take you — tag #VentureinOki and you could be our next featured explorer.

📍 Kouri Island Tower

Mid-summer Obon Festivities Are Ramping Up in Okinawa — Here's What to Know

Article by Andrew Robinson | Design by Diana López Hansen | Photos by Marina Chayka

In Japan, for those who follow the lunar calendar, summer marks an important annual tradition — Obon. Characterized by unique spiritualism, this three-day holiday honors ancestral spirits, and Okinawa is scheduled to celebrate Sept. 4 - 6 this year.

Like many aspects of Japanese culture, Obon has Buddhist roots. The tradition dates back about 500 years, and over time, Obon has morphed into something akin to Dia de los Muertos in Mexico. The special customs and celebrations that occur during this time are what make Obon such a major holiday for Japan.

How to Celebrate

Obon is split into three days. The first day, or “unke” in the Okinawan dialect, is thought of as the welcoming day. During this evening, families hang lanterns outside their residences. This is meant to help the returning ancestors find their way home. Also, located inside, families open up and clean the family altar or “butsudan.” These shrines are arranged with various offerings for the ancestors. Items like incense, flowers, fruits and sugarcane are common staples in the butsudans.

Day two is known as “nakanuhi.” Families use this time to pray at the altar, cook, visit other family members and exchange gifts.

Finally, day three, or “ukui,” is when the ancestors return to their world. This may be the most important day of Obon as families host large dinners and say frequent prayers to the departing spirits. People use this time to say goodbye to their ancestors once again and to ask for protection and forgiveness. This evening closes the Obon celebrations for the year, and it leaves people ready to welcome the ancestral spirits back next year.

Eisa

In Okinawa, Obon festivities wouldn't be complete without Eisa dancing. The vibrant folk dancing often occurs in tandem with Obon festivities. The visuals of the dancers are charming enough but coupled with the idyllic sounds of sanshin and taiko instruments, this ritual is a cornerstone of Obon in Okinawa.

The dance itself is performed to welcome, and then later bid adieu to the ancestral spirits. Given its popularity, Eisa takes on a cultural life of its own outside of Obon. Eisa activities occur throughout the entire summer and tend to last into the fall. In early October, Naha becomes transformed, as 10,000 Eisa dancers parade through the streets.

Festivities like this garner much attention from locals and tourists alike, and it's not hard to see why. Once you're steeped in Okinawan culture, Eisa's alluring quality will become one of your most anticipated events of the year.

Kadena's Child and Youth Programs

Offer Care and Activities for all Ages and Branches of Service

By Bobbie Brock | Design by Yuka Kinjo

For many families, August signifies a transition back to more structured routines and classroom learning. It marks the end of summer vacations, late nights and leisurely mornings. Families prepare for the school year with back-to-school shopping and planning for before- and after-school care and activities for their children. The Child and Youth Programs (CYP) offer a variety of childcare and recreational programs to support families with children of all ages and branches of service!

Child Development Centers

Kadena's Child Development Centers (CDC) provide quality childcare services, enabling service members to fulfill mission requirements worldwide, knowing their children are in a safe, nurturing environment that promotes individual development through independent and creative exploration.

The CDC is nationally accredited and staffed by highly trained professionals who care for children aged 6 weeks to 5 years who are not yet in kindergarten. The center focuses on developmental programs that enhance social skills, encourage critical thinking, promote language and literacy and foster physical development.

Kadena has two Child Development Centers: Niko Niko and Wakaba, both open Monday through Friday from 6:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Family Child Care

Family Child Care (FCC) provides childcare services in a home setting approved by the Mission Support Group commander. FCC homes care for children aged 2 weeks to 12 years, offering a warm, family-like atmosphere where children can engage in quality developmental activities under the supervision of trained professionals. Any adult providing regular childcare in privatized base housing must be licensed according to their lease contract.

School Age Care

Kadena features two nationally accredited School Age Care (SAC) locations that offer quality care before and after school for children from kindergarten through 12 years. The program accommodates children attending elementary school on Kadena Air Base and includes transportation to and from school. When school is not in session, all-day care is provided. During winter, spring and summer breaks, SAC operates weekly camps that include field trips, extended activities and guest speakers.

Teen and Youth

Teen and Youth programs offer open recreation opportunities, including activities at the Teen Center and Youth Center, as well as sports programs. The Youth Center is available for youth aged 9 to 13, while the Teen Center caters to those aged 13 to 18. The Youth Sports program is open to children aged 3 to 18, focusing on the recreational aspect of sports rather than competitive high school athletics.

Did You Know?

- Child and Youth employees are CPR and First Aid certified.
- Caregivers are also considered food service workers and must complete proper food handler's training upon initial employment and annually.
- Caregivers are not babysitters. Caregivers receive 40 hours of new employee training and complete 15 modules and 24 hours of training annually.
- Child and Youth employees receive free childcare for the 1st child and 50% off for each additional child as a recruitment and retention incentive.
- A toddler caregiver can change more than 9K diapers in a year.
- Play is "work." Play is essential for a child's mental and social development, allowing them to learn through exploration and problem-solving.
- Preschools have a better return on investment than the stock market.
- Caregivers and Family Child Care Providers write lesson plans based on the children's interests, strengths, areas of needed development and age-appropriate milestones.
- Child Development Centers utilize the Early Learning Matters (ELM) curriculum developed by Purdue University. ELM is a highly accessible and adaptive program that supports optimal learning and development of children from birth to 5 years of age.
- School Age Care Programs and the Youth and Teen Centers' programs utilize the Boys and Girls Clubs of America (BGCA) curriculum to support youth development in the areas of Education & Career Development, Character & Leadership, Health & Life Skills, the Arts, and Sports, Fitness & Recreation.
- School Age Care Programs and the Youth and Teen Centers partner with 4-H to provide hands-on learning in the areas of critical thinking, caring for others, practical skills and healthy living.
- Family Child Care Providers are entrepreneurs. Although licensed to operate by the Department of Defense, they are small business owners.
- All Child and Youth Staff and Contractors are considered "Mandated Reports" and must report all suspected child abuse to the Family Advocacy Program.
- The Youth and Teen Centers are recreational programs.
- Coaches in Youth Sports are volunteers.

Imagination Takes Shape at Kadena Base Library's

LEGO BOOKCLUB

Looking for a creative way to get your child excited about reading? Head to the Kadena Base Library for a one-of-a-kind program that combines storytelling with hands-on learning LEGO Bookclub.

Designed for children ages 4 to 10, this engaging event begins with the first chapter of a fun and age-appropriate book. As kids listen, they're encouraged to think critically about the characters, themes and storylines. Then, they bring those stories to life using Legos to build creations inspired by what they heard. It's literacy, creativity and critical thinking all rolled into one.

LEGO Bookclub meets at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, August 12.
